DIRECTOR: Matteo Garrone

Starring: Marcello Fonte, Edoardo Gero, Nunzia Schiano, Adamo Dionisi

In the outskirts suspended between metropolis and wilderness, where the only law seems to be that of the strongest, Marcello is a small and gentle man who divides his days between work in his modest grooming salon for dogs, love for his daughter Alida, and an ambiguous relationship of subjection with Simoncino, a former boxer who terrorizes the entire neighborhood. Determined to reaffirm his dignity after an umpteenth oppression, Marcello will imagine revenge with an unexpected outcome.

A man is walking alone in the last bits of darkness. It's Deputy Police officer Francesco Prencepe, going to see his best friend, Judge Giovanni Mastropaolo. They haven't seen each other for over two years. A two hour ride only for a few words and nothing else. A question. An Answer. That same morning the judge is found dead: a bullet in his forehead. Francesco is the last one that saw him alive. Only his fingerprints are traced in the house. He only had time for the homicide. The prosecutor, who knows him well, his past, women, bad habits and other weaknesses, arrests him. His life flows in front of his eyes overlapping inconsistently in a desperate attempt to find the true killer, to the truth of an entire life.

Isabella still sings Tic Tac, the song that made her famous in the early nineties, when she was only seventeen. Her place is the Big Star, which has also become her second home. Her young son Bruno is her guitarist. The two are inseparable, they perform every night together and they share a ramshackle but happy life of unpaid bills and midnight strolls around the city. Bruno, however, dreams of a different musical career. Light touches of comedy and the music bring to life the slow but necessary separation between mother and son, a crucial and painful detachment. Just like the end of any other love story.

MY FATHER, MY MASTER

PADRE PADRONE

DIRECTORS: Paolo and Vittorio Taviani

Starring: Omero Antonutti, Saverio Marconi

Winner of the 1977 Cannes Film Festival, this classic by the Taviani brothers is based on Gavino Ledda's autobiography. Gavino is only six when his father hauls him out of school to herd sheep in the barren countryside. The father treats the child as his father treated him, making him live in a miserable shepherd's hut. When the father orders Gavino to join the army, the boy learns a trade and discovers the outside world. Gavino Ledda eventually returned home, bested his father and got a university degree.
